

Engineers

We are building on our knowledge to develop awareness of big concepts in the world around us

How I learn

I learn through a topic based approach and through this I am able to broaden my horizons and view of the world both past, present, and in familiar and wider environments. I learn through challenges, working alongside others and I have learning experiences in the wider community. I engage with skill specific learning and follow mastery approaches where I need them. I engage with more formal learning with opportunities to show what I have learnt through independent learning.

How adults support my learning

My adults plan topic themes with exciting, mysterious and thought provoking starts which capturing my imagination and allow me to become immersed and engaged in my learning. My prior knowledge is built upon in all of my learning activities.
